Flash Flood Spurs Council Action

The Warren borough council again is pressing the state to do something about two streams which prove costly to local property owners every time a flash flood occurs. Indian Run and Glade Run damages, from last Thursday's cloudburst will top $100,000.

The council approved two resolutions. One empowered officials to submit data concerning the flood to the Department of Forests and Waters so that it may be added to the facts which were provided the state board in November of 1954. The other gives officials the right to seek federal or state funds for flood relief.

Engineer DeBell reported that there was nothing new about the Indian Run and Glade Run results. He said that encroaching walls and inadequate clearance left the raging waters no place to go. He said that any stream which serves a drainage area the size of that served by these two streams is under the supervision of the state.

He said that forty square feet are required at all intersections. Two of the upper intersections crossing Indian Run have fifty square feet. However, Myrtle, Fifth, Roy, Orchard, Brook, and Conewango are under the required amount, going as low as 12 square feet in the case of Orchard.

He said that plans for clearing the Indian Run channel had been provided the state in 1954. Plans for a flume in Glade Run also were discussed with Harrisburg, and council at that time passed several resolutions formally requesting state help.

He placed the Indian Run project at about $73,000 and the Glade Run cost at $140,000.

He said all of the projects are on private property and rights of way must be obtained. He said the borough is employing extra help and equipment to clear the streams and is doing all it can until the state acts.

About twenty residents of flooded areas were present to learn what council was planning to do. Also present was W. S. Dalzell, assistant engineer of the Department of Forests and Waters, who visited the flooded areas Monday.

Mrs. David Potter asked if the resolutions will be followed up and where Indian Run will be contained. Engineer DeBell said the containing improvements would be from Myrtle to Brook.

Others wanted to know if they could raise their own property, who had jurisdiction over encroachments, whether aid could be obtained from county and townships, and similar questions.

Engineer DeBell explained that no municipality could afford to contain all the waters resulting from a flash flood. He also said that the reason for the increase of the Glade Run cost as compared with 1954 figures was the inclusion of all costs, such as damage to walls and the United Refinery flume.

Councilman Logan said that Bradford had obtained flood control help by creating an authority. Over two million has been obtained toward a nine million dollar project, with the state agreeing to pay half of the net cost after federal money has been received. He said abutting property owners were paying the costs of any work necessary on their own homes or land.

WILD WATER, mud, and stone turn a normally peaceful stream into a wide and raging current. You could jump across Glade Run Thursday afternoon. By nine o'clock in the evening it looked like this at the foot of Mead st. Anything in its path gave.

SAVED, BY A WALL was the home of Dave Potter. Indian Run went wild here, leaving its channel and gouging the bank opposite the Potter home. The bridge is cluttered with sticks, stones, and anything loose the waters could move.

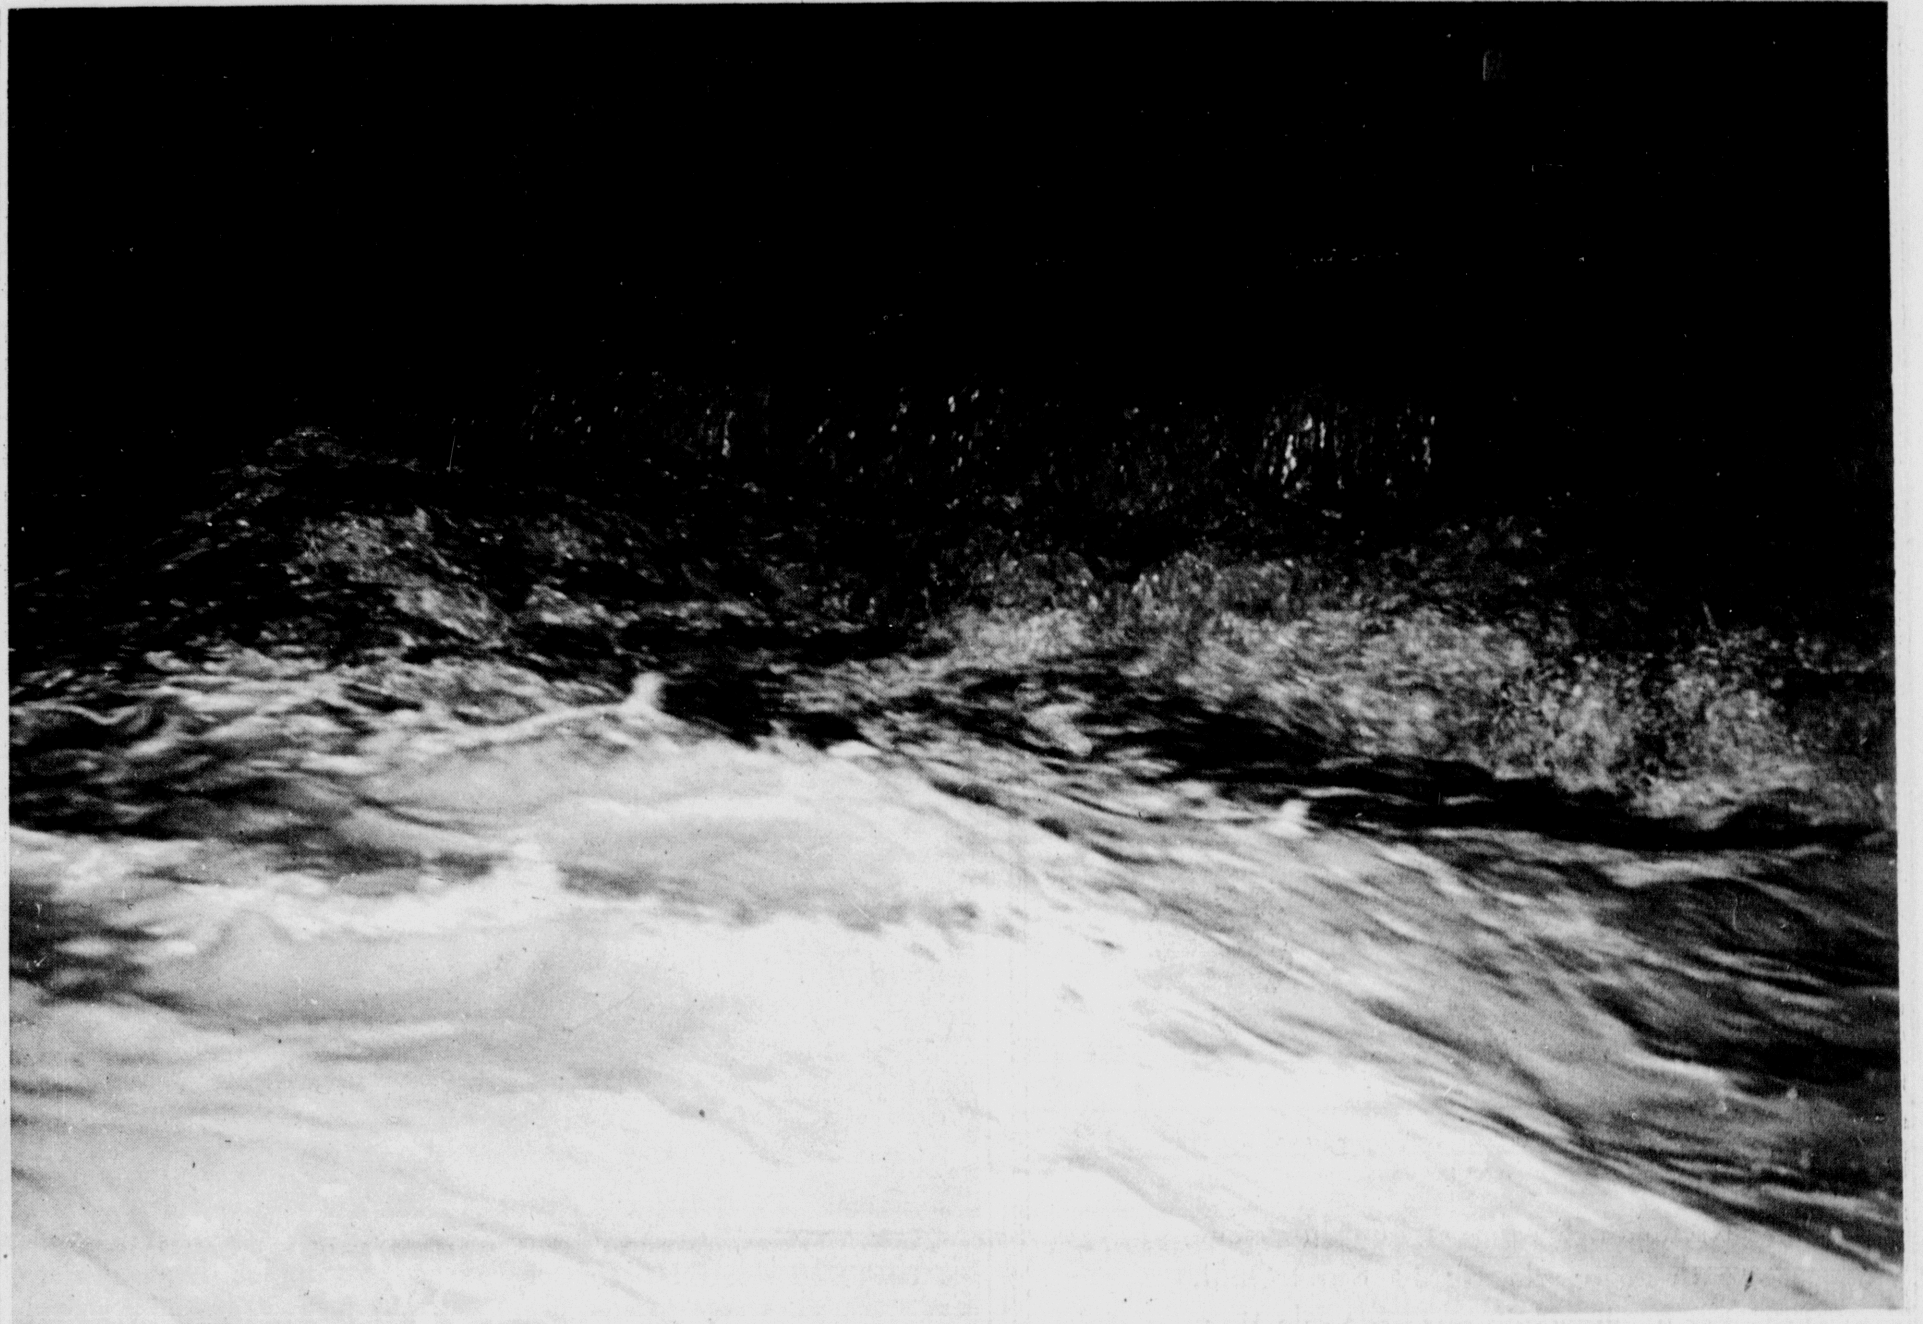

NEW STREAM. Here goes part of Glade Run, over Chapman road and down a portion of Park st. Gravel plugged the stream above this point and changed its course. Water poured through windows of a new garage, and new homes seen in the upper right corner had foundations caved in, as pictured elsewhere.

own homes or land.

AND OTHER BUSINESS

Before the flood discussion started, council accepted the bids of Battin Blacktop Co. and Battin Paving Co., both of Cambridge Springs, for surfacing Third from Market to Pennsylvania, and Fifth from the bridge to Conewango, and for sealing numerous paved streets. The Third and Fifth jobs will cost $9,946. The sealing will be done for .173 cents a square yard. Bituminous surfacing will cost $1.50 a yard.

Council also amended the Russell st. paving ordinance to change the width from 26 to 29 feet.

COMPLETE WASHOUT. The Cob-ham Park rd. bridge located near the Chapman rd. was completely washed out in the raging waters
Thursday night. A second bridge up Cobham Park was also removed, stranding residence so far as vehicle traffic was concerned.

STEEL GIRDERS from the washed out Cobham Park bridge rest a good 100 feet down stream. The foot bridge at the left was installed to allow residence to reach their homes.

SLOW GOING. The three-lane north of Warren was covered in many unnatural places Thursday evening. Traffic moved slowly or not at all. Here a car picks its way through water up to the hubs.

Ambulance Problem Discussed By Hospital

A discussion of the local ambulance service problem headed the agenda of the Warren General Hospital board of directors meeting last Friday and resulted in the appointment of a committee to meet with representatives of borough council and the county commissioners. This meeting has been scheduled for Friday afternoon and it is hoped that some agreeable solution can be reached toward providing the service.

This situation arose after the local funeral directors made a decision to halt ambulance service because of the expense of operation.

In other action the board authorized the operation of the Warren County Tumor clinic for another year with the following members: Dr. Homer Lewis, chairman, Dr. Robert Donaldson, Dr. Francis Ericsson, Dr. Hugh Robertson, Dr. John Thompson, Dr. J. R. Sugarman and Dr. Albert Eberly. The clinic serves as a registry of malignancies and as an educational device for the medical staff who study the cases registered in the clinic.

It was learned that the hospital auxiliary has purchased all of the equipment used in the central steril supply station at a cost of $1050. The candy strippers, senior high school girls who render a number of services, were praised by the administrator.

A safety program is being instituted at the hospital in cooperation with its insurance carrier. As part of an accident control program, monthly meetings and training discussions will be held.

Mrs. Eva Schmiedel, formerly chief bookkeeper, has been named office manager at the hospital.

JOSEPH STUART SWARTZ

Bank Robbery Suspect To Face Grand Jury

Joseph Stuart Swartz, 22-year-old suspect in the year old robbery of the Tidioute Branch of the Warren National Bank, is expected to be brought before the grand jury when it convenes at the Warren County Court House Monday.

The young Bethel, Pennsylvania, grading and trucking contractor has been charged with the $11,000 armed hold-up of the bank and is currently free on $5000 bail.

Sufficient evidence to hold Swartz was found by Justice Fred Berry of Starbrick when the suspect was given a hearing April 30. At that time District Attorney M. A. Kornreich presented three witnesses, including Krug Cyphert, manager of the branch bank. He identified Swartz as the man who held him up last August 18.

In the event a true bill is found at the grand jury session, Swartz will be tried during the September term of court.

Since the preliminary hearing it has been disclosed that two Lackawannock township women have signed sworn statements that the accused was with them at their home near Sharon at the time of the robbery. Three Mercer County garage employes have also said they saw Swartz near the time of the robbery.

The prosecution in the case is being handled by District Attorney Kornreich.

SUPPORT DESERVED

Up Kinzua way there is a man with hope in his heart and callouses on his hands. The summer has made both a little heavier, but he keeps right on cultivating, improving, clearing, and hoping.

Les Sheldon has carved a golf course out of the slopes above Kinzua. The setting is one of the most beautiful seen as a back-drop to any course in the land, but the road isn't short and the job won't be easy. Les needs help.

This course hasn't been built with the help of big money. It has been an expensive one to construct, due to the nature of the area, the slopes, the forest, and the brush lots . . . and this summer, the weather. Most of it has come into being through the labor and tenacity of a guy with an eye to the future.

Some say that Les has done this job with the Kinzua dam in mind. Be that as it may, he has done the job, and it may pay off big for Les and for the section if a course results on the shores of a resulting lake. If the government compensates Les well enough for the holes he will lose when the water comes up the rise, holes may be built on the upper side of the course. With recreation as a major portion of the immediate area's value, golf will not be out of place.

Right now what this backwoods advocate of the swing game needs is support from those who say we need another public course in this area. The course is not a finished project. It will require time and patience to make it a polished accomplishment, and will take patience on the part of those who support the effort.

If yearly improvements are seen, that should be encouraging enough to justify support. Winter rules facilitate play in the fairways and in a year or two the greens should be ready for a putting stroke.

Meanwhile, the best help local golfers can provide Les is their use of the course and their ready acceptance of the fact that it is not a finished, well manicured lay-out. By their play they can make it become a reality. By their patience they can encourage the man who is spending his money and his time trying where hundreds of others refused to move a finger or a dime.

FULL-TIME DIRECTOR

The Jamestown Community College continues to grow and this writer continues to envy New York State's progress along educational lines, with such cities as Jamestown making the most of it. The little touches now are being added, such as a full-time physical education director. He is George P. Bataitis, who has resigned as director for the Jamestown's Boys Club to take the new post.

We also like the program he will direct. It will include activities which will carry over into adult life. This we would like to see more of in all levels, including

That article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended, by adding at the end thereof a new section to read:

Section 23. In addition to the purposes stated in article nine, section four of this Constitution, the Commonwealth may be authorized, by law, to create debt and to issue bonds to the amount of one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) for the payment of compensation to certain persons from this Commonwealth, who served in the armed forces of the United States or any of her allies during the Korean Conflict, between June twenty-five, one thousand nine hundred and fifty, and July twenty-seven, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three, for the service of such persons in their country, whether or not they are living when distribution is made, and, if the person is deceased when distribution is made, the deceased person's compensation shall be paid to his spouse, child, children or parents.

HELP NEEDED

The new tennis courts on Beaty field reveal the long gap that has existed in Warren since the game was reasonably well played here. We have stopped for a few minutes at various times of the day to watch the players who are filling the courts. Fortunately their ineptness is matched by their enthusiasm.

We watched one old timer, who was a fair player in his day. Other than this gentleman we haven't seen anyone who knew how to move up to a ball or how to hit it when it got to them.

The clinic that Benny Scalise and the Jaycees are planning is very much needed for the young boys and girls, but we also need some skilled teachers to carry on after it is over. We also need teachers for the older players, in their twenties and thirties, who are giving it a whirl.

It is a great game and deserves skillful application to assure full enjoyment.

Opera company, appearances in numerous musical shows, oratorios, and radio programs, will be the teacher.

MILK FOR CAMP

Not long ago we mentioned that the federal milk funds include help for playground departments which wish to distribute milk as a part of their body-building programs. We probably should mention that non-profit camps also can receive milk funds of this kind. This part of the program went into effect Wednesday of this week.

GOOD MOVIES

A few weeks ago we reported that the Stratford Shakespearean festival would include a program of outstanding movies this summer. These may be seen in the Ontario city at 2:30 in the afternoon. We now can tell you about a few of them.

This Friday you can see an unusual Russian feature film, Life of Private Brovkin. Next Tuesday it will be the post-war German film, Berliner Ballade.

On Thursday it will be Farrebique, a French pastorelle. Each of these also is accompanied by two other attractions. In the case of Farrebique you also can see the Russian colour cartoon, The Golden Antelope, and McLaren's latest

COMPLETELY DEMOLISHED was this 1953 Ford convertible owned by Arnold Swanson, of War-

DISMISS CHARGES

The FTC has dismissed its charges against two makers of battery additives. The additives involved are Sav-A-Battery and AD-X2. The dismissal reverses a hearing examiner's decision prohibiting claims that the additives lengthen the life of automotive batteries. ***

REFUSES TO CANCEL

Sutson, Inc., a New York City concern trading as "Music Treasures of the World," a record-of-the-month club, was charged by the Federal Trade Commission with refusing to cancel memberships in the club despite written notices of cancellation.

Although the subscription contract states that persons who become members of the club may cancel memberships at any time, the company continues to mail additional records to those who have given notice of cancellation, the complaint charges. In addition to billing these persons for the records, the complaint states, the company has placed their accounts with attorneys and collection agencies.

In magazine and other advertisements explaining Music Treasures of the World, the company offers an introductory record for 10¢. The advertisement, in the form of a purchase notice from the reader, states in part: "Here is my 10¢ . . . for the . . . record . . . which I may keep whether or not I purchase any additional records. Each month . . . I will receive advance notice of the new record release . . . However, I may decline to accept any or all records offered me and I may cancel membership any time . . ."

The deception here, the complaint alleges, prejudices the public and unfairly diverts business from competitors, in violation of the FTC Act.

Sutson's address in New York City is 100 Sixth Ave. Joined in the complaint are its officers: Lester Leventhal, Milo Sutliff, and John Stevenson. ***

USED OIL SOLD AS NEW

The Federal Trade Commission announced approval of stipulations with three companies selling used oils to disclose the oils have been used.

The companies and their products are:

Virginia Iron and Metal Co., Inc., Richmond, Va., and Sidney A. Burnstein, Sr., president -- "Red Dot" and "Vimco";

S & R Oil Co., Houston, Texas -- "Texas Pride Motor Oil," "Essex Motor Oil," "Paralube Motor Oil," "Gail Motor Oil," and "Peerless Motor Oil";

Pioneer Oil Co., Philadelphia, Pa., the partnership of Ben Stofman and Herman S. Stoffman -- "Quality Lube."

These oils, the stipulations note, are obtained "in whole or in substantial part" from drainings of crankcases and other sources and are sold in containers of the same "general size, kind and appearance" as those used for new oil.

The companies have advertised, labeled, and sold these products without revealing they have been used, the stipulations conclude.

A similar charge has been placed against the Deep Rock Refining Co., of Richmond, Va. The cans in which it is sold do not have markings which will denote that the oil is obtained from crankcase drainings. ***

NOT CORRECTIVE GLASSES

The "amazing new Precision Eye-glasses for folks over forty" as advertised by Precision Optical Laboratories, Inc., Rochelle, Ill., are not new or amazing and will not correct the vision of all people over forty. The company's mail advertising has been investigated by the FTC and the false claims must stop. ***

buying poultry, especially that which is packaged. It explains that poultry was not included in the law which made meat sold in interstate commerce subject to federal inspection. It also says that between one-fourth and one-third of all food-borne disease outbreaks investigated in the United States during the past few years have been associated with poultry or poultry dishes.

The article includes several rules for making sure poultry is safe to eat, the lead one of which is to buy that which is stamped "Inspected, U. S."

(Ed. Note. We believe in our small community we can add that if you know your butcher, and especially if you know the source of the chickens, you are reasonably safe if you take normal precautions in the preservation and preparation of the bird.)

Lawn Mowing Is No "Scalping" Party

Did you know that during the process of growing, grass blades store up plant food. . . And if the blades are cut too short a great deal of food is destroyed?

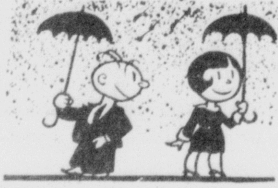

Garden experts tell us this is so, and add that a minimum height of 1½ inches is recommended for a lawn of thick, cushioning grass.

Just before periods of little or no growth—such as occur in July and August, the less that is taken off the top of the grass the better it is for the future well-being of the lawn. . . And at no time should the grass be "scalped."

OUTDOORS

NATURE IS POWERFUL

The tremendous force of water and stone combined was driven home to Warren area residents last Thursday when a couple of storms got together directly overhead and dumped their contents practically in one spot. The resultant rainfall was so heavy that it could find no place to go on the already damp ground except downhill. And this it did with great speed.

Eaten away were the foundations of many large rocks, which immediately kicked loose others. Combined with the rushing water they tore away banks, changed stream beds, ripped out bridges, undermined homes, gouged highways and sidewalks, pulled trees from their moorings, plunged over large waterfalls making them much larger waterfalls, and creating even deeper gorges below the falls.

Thus nature combined damage and beauty, created new and destroyed the old. It changed many of your favorite scenes and perhaps your trysting spots. The old walk is a new one. You can enjoy it all over again.

Any path that followed a neighboring stream, today will provide you with new sights. Any stream along which you may have fished, now has new holes, new riffles, new shadows, new sun spots.

Nature ripped through and with a couple hours of heavy-handed carving, gave us a new landscape in many places. Revealed to us once again that there is a power mightier than man.

As bad as it was, the fact was driven home back in our quiet valley where cyclones, tornadoes and such seldom touch us, that with little effort much worse destruction could be wrought from the skies if such were the wish of a greater power.

CHUCK HUNTING CAN BE SAFE SPORT

The record makes it appear that woodchuck (groundhog) hunting in Pennsylvania is becoming progressively safer for humans. Last year 4 persons were killed and 14 were injured by gunfire at the hands of woodchuck hunters or while hunting the "whistlepig". In 1954 there were three human fatalities and thirty-two wounded accountable to such hunting. In 1953 the tally was eight and thirty-two. So far this year the Game Commission has record of but five persons injured by chuck hunter gunfire -- no fatalities.

The score could be 0-0 every year if each "pig" hunter would observe the simple rules of safe gun handling and make sure of his target beyond question before loosing his bullet. It should be recognized, too, that utter dependence on binoculars or a telescope mounted on the rifle sometimes leads to trouble. It can be as difficult for a person with normal vision to identify an animal at great distance through a 'scope or glasses as with the naked eye at fairly close range. The safety requirement in any case is that the target be identified beyond question.

A person doesn't simply "happen" to shoot another in mistake for game. The shooter in such case is guilty of neglect because no human ever "looked like a woodchuck", as reports often read. Though "varmint" hunting has increased tremendously in recent years the percentage of chuck hunters shot in this State compared to the total number of chuck hunters is far out of proportion to the number of persons injured or killed while hunting in the small game and large game seasons.

The decline in woodchuck hunter casualties is probably due to the increase in the number of shooters who wear white or fluorescent caps or garments in the field. Many of them protect themselves further by tying a handkerchief or a piece of white cloth to a bush or stake to mark their position for other hunters in the vicinity. The experienced chuck hunter knows that movement, not color, is what "spooks" the wary little groundhog.

Is any bird or animal worth risking human life? The obvious answer to that question would prevent many hunter casualties.

MAKES WILDCAT WILD

"Two men have a wildcat they call 'Mazie' in a cage located in a wooded section in my Clarion County district," says Game Protector William Denton. "A few days ago they went out to feed her and saw another wildcat they suspected was a boy friend on top of the cage, trying to join 'Mazie'."

MAY TRAIN DOGS ON GAME

The Game Commission reminds sportsmen owning hunting dogs that beginning August 1 they may train their dogs, under control, on wild game other than elk, deer, bears or wild turkeys. The close season in spring and early summer is designed to protect young game birds and animals.

Though no hunting license is required of persons training dogs on game, attention is called to these legal requirements: 1. "Under control" is defined in the Game Law to mean "within call except when actually on the trail or track of legal game." 2. No injury may be inflicted on game birds or animals. 3. Carrying a shotgun or rifle while dog training is prohibited. 4. Raccoon dogs may be trained from sunrise to midnight; other dogs from sunrise to 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. 5. Sunday training, except on public lands, is legal only after the landowner's consent has been obtained.

SEASON EXTENDED

Don't stop trout fishing. The weather has been so bad and the stock of fish is so plentiful that the fish commission has decided to continue it until September 15. In ten lakes, including Chapman Dam, you can fish for trout until November 30.

The hatchery reared trout are proving they can survive through the winter. To allow them to go to waste, says the commission, would be gross mismanagement. The season was supposed to end July 31.

The POLITICS OF IT

NIXON STILL IN?

We very much doubt if Richard Nixon will be ousted from the vice-presidency spot on the Republican ticket, but the recent statement made by Harold Stassen indicates that there is plenty of tugging going on behind the doors. It is not very mysterious.

The eastern group which has managed to control GOP politics for many years has lost some of its grip and probably is acting too late. But the fact that they are acting at all points up their fear that the President won't make the full route and the deal that was made to console the Taft faction four years ago may move that group smack into the White House.

The isolationists already are very much in power, thanks to help from major Southern Democrats on several big issues, thanks to a public that has forgotten it has congressmen and is not pressing for good legislation, and thanks to President Eisenhower's failure to press his advantages.

The President has had congress by its most vulnerable parts for the full route, and especially during the past year when it was pressing him to run again. He could have had any legislation he wanted just by demanding it in return for his decision to sacrifice his life by running. As it is, the sacrifice will mean little, if anything, in the way of accomplishment.

We doubt if the last step has been taken to oust Nixon, but future efforts probably won't be as inept as the Stassen statement. That one punctured and collapsed before two breaths had been directing into its saggy support.

It probably will be an inside maneuver by the so-called progressives of the party. But we doubt if they will get any more than a few key appointments in the resulting exchange.

Unfortunately the Republicans must have Eisenhower to win. The issues of 1952 are cold and gone. Even to hold what they have in congress they must use Ike to sell the people on electing Republican support for his administration. No matter about Ike. They won't listen to him anyway. He is a naive lame duck, with only one card left. And that he never will use.

His card is a charm which the American people love. If he were to carry his program to the public and demand support, every congressman would be hounded by letters and calls. He could create a revolt in his own party on any issue if he chose to take it to the voters.

A sick man, a man with a real crusader's impulse, might do that. It would be an inspiring act which we hope but don't expect to witness.

DEMOCRATS UNITE

Warren county Democrats meet Friday night for that meeting which will decide the chairmanship. The meeting will be held in the court house and has been called by state party officials. It also will be supervised by Pennsylvania Democrat party representatives.

Unless something unexpected ripples the waters we anticipate that Bob Clark will be the chairman by a fair majority. This will come about through the fact that many Democrats on both sides of the chairman battle believe he will unite the party as it must be with an election coming up.

With Mike Papavero out of office the issue has lost its heat. He actually was a big share of the target. Chet Walker, the other candidate, is highway superintendent, and there is no denying that his election would contradict the declared Democrat policy of not allowing chairmen to be office holders.

The Democrats would be committing a Republican error if they were to allow this political plum to be held by a chairman who wields the patronage power. This and a few other reasons suggest that Clark will be their man.

TREASURER'S SALE OF SEATED LANDS
FOR TAXES FOR THE YEAR OF 1954

In compliance with and by virtue of the authority vested in me, the several acts of assembly, and specifically by the act approved June 20, 1939, P. L. 498 and other amendatory acts, authorizing and empowering the county treasurer to sell at public sale all seated lands upon which taxes levied by authority of any county, borough, town, township, school district and poor district are delinquent and remain unpaid and fixing penalties, etc., I will sell at public sale the following properties as hereinafter set forth

The purpose of said sale is to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes, penalties, interest and costs thereon as the taxes are returned for the year 1954. Said sale will be held in Court Room 2 at the Court House in the Borough of Warren, Warren County, Pennsylvania on Monday, August 6, 1956 at 10 o'clock A. M. EDST.

Terms of Sale: As soon as property is struck down, payment of the amount of purchase money, or such part thereof as is necessary to pay all taxes, penalties, interest and costs in such case, will be required from the purchaser. In event said amount is not paid forthwith after the property is struck down the sale will be void and the property immediately offered for sale again by the Treasurer. No bid will be accepted for less than taxes, penalty, interests and costs.

If a bid is in excess of said amount the purchaser will be required to make and execute to said Treasurer for use of the persons entitled a bond for the surplus money that may remain after satisfying and paying all the taxes and costs as aforesaid.

To all persons, owners or reputed owners of property, terra tenants or any claiming an interest in the following described lots or tracts of land: You are hereby notified that your property situated in the borough or township as hereinafter described has been returned for non-payment of taxes for the year designated and unless such taxes and costs are paid on or before Monday, the 6th day of August, 1956, at ten o'clock A. M. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, of said day, the said premises will be sold as above set forth.

Lesson Of A Lifetime

By Charles S. Merroth, Dept. of Forests & Waters

Talk has been lively since the catastrophic flash flood of July 26th in Warren concerning responsibility, corrective measures, past practices, and presently proposed projects to help alleviate such conditions. One comment by a Warren Borough official summed up very effectively the truth of the matter "that no town, borough, or municipality could afford to protect itself against all conceivable natural catastrophes" - and it might be added that neither can any State or Nation.

Most comments have been directed toward damage from resulting runoff. This indicates that little thought is given to the conception of where the resultant flow originates and how it gains such damaging momentum. Knowledge of watersheds in general dispels any thought of alleviation from clearing stream channels except in areas of restricted flow.

For instance the Indian Run Watershed of approximately 500 acres discharged enough water from the 75,000,000 gallon rainfall in less than 2 miles length to cause unprecedented damage. The amount of runoff will never be known but it is known that it was less than the 75 million gallon rainfall because of millions of retention obstacles, absorption, infiltration, etc., throughout the watershed.

With an average stream bed slope of 10 degrees it is not within realm of possibility to reduce the amount or velocity of streamflow by channel clearance, if anything, additional sound detention objects would be needed. In other words once the water gets into the creek little hope remains except to give the resulting water wide clearance where it discharges or provide a large reservoir from which it can be discharged slowly. The latter is not feasible in most cases of such small watersheds.

The point of this discussion is that Watershed Management is primary, Stream Management is secondary. Once we are satisfied that all possible precautions have been taken on a watershed area (500 acres in Indian Run) to retain, retard, and properly channel runoff - then the stream program should allow for the best possible confinement and discharge of the expected balance so far as economically feasible.

Charles S. Merroth, District Forester, Pennsylvania Department of Forests & Waters, is willing to organize a field trip of a watershed involved in the July 26th flood, indicating good and poor features of management, if sufficient interest is shown. The fundamentals never change, however, the necessity for best possible management is vastly exaggerated with the current damage. Contributing factors and their application can only be understood by field examination.

Credit is certainly deserved by those managers of farm and forest who have been making an unselfish effort to maintain productive vegetative cover in the many watersheds involved. On the other hand, those who have neglected conservation practices may accept guilt for some minute portion of the resulting damage. For those of us who may never see the causes or results of the like again it should be studied as a lesson of a lifetime.

HOW IT AFFECTS US

There is much talk about changing the allocation of vhf and uhf stations throughout the nation. A plan has been submitted to the congressional committee and the FCC by ABC and now is being considered. We naturally are interested in what it would do to our reception if it is accepted.

Pittsburgh would go unchanged, with its three vhf channels, 2, 4, and 11.

There would be no change in Buffalo which has vhf on channels 2, 4, and 7, with NBC owning the uhf station on channel 17.

Johnstown and Altoona would have four vhf channels, adding 3 and 8 to 6 and 10.

The change proposed that might make a big difference in the future of reception in this area is the one dealing with Erie. Many have hoped that Erie might become the location for at least one powerful station that would punch a strong signal into this section. But the ABC plan would remove Channel 12 from Erie and give it to Cleveland. Erie would be left with nothing but uhf.

This development is fine if they do something about extending the signal of uhf stations. If we could receive good signals from both Buffalo and Erie we might end up with excellent variety. But as of today, uhf is not reaching very far.

As was the case in radio, we are in forgotten alley when it comes to airwave reception.

HOPE THEY EARN IT

Federal Communication commissioners have been voted new salaries. They now will be receiving $20,000 a year instead of $15,000.

METERED SURVEY

No need to get on that telephone if you want to find out how many tv sets are being used in an area. Now they have a mobile unit that carries a poll-o-meter. This gadget will count the tv sets within a given section. Of course it doesn't tell what programs are being watched or if anyone is watching. Its survey value obviously is limited.

TINY TV CAMERA

The political conventions which are shaping up are lending publicity to much new equipment that will be used to cover every corner of the buildings and the cities where they will be staged. A real test will be given to several small cameras, two of which weigh about four pounds, and are Philco and RCA products.

Then there is one which weighs only a pound and a half. It looks like a revolver, and has been developed by Lockheed Aircraft. If it should prove at all practical you get an idea what the future can be for tv.

FIGHT FOR PROGRAM

The fight to save Mama goes on. The popular program was scheduled to be dropped this year, but supporters are rallying and the mail indicates its popularity. The Marion Roberts show in Buffalo asked how many wanted it continued and over one hundred letters immediately arrived.

NBC FALL PROGRAMMING

NBC continues to shape up its fall season. Goodyear and Alcoa programs probably will alternate the 9 to 10 Sunday evening hour for twenty weeks, with the Bob Hope Chevy show taking ten of the other twelve on a once the month basis.

Dinah Shore probably will be seen Fridays, 9 to 10, once a month. Hallmark's six Maurice Evans shows may be moved from Sunday afternoon to Sunday evening, from 7:30 to 9 and from 9 to 10:30.

FOOTBALLS IN THE AIR

A nucleus of seven lettermen will be on hand August 18 when Head Coach Fred Bell and the Warren high football squad open practice for the 1956 season. Among the 155 boys signed up for the sport, are returning letter earners John Berdine, Henry Lanman, John Powley, Dick Kremer, Conrad Hultman, Bob Hartnett and Jim Griffin. Physical examinations for the 1956 squad start August 15 at the high school with Dr. John Larson in charge.

WILDCATS WIN AND LOSE

The race for first place in the Penn-York baseball league cooled off over the week end, when the second place Ludlow Wildcats split a pair of contests. Ludlow defeated Art Metal 4 to 2 on Sunday, but took it on the chin, 12-5, from the Jamestown Moose Saturday.

The Cats now have a 12-5 record compared to the Starlite Bombers' 14-2 count that was bolstered by two week end victories.

Holden went eight innings on the mound against the Metalists and was relieved by Labesky in the final frame. Labesky and L. Wilson shared the duty on Saturday.

The first playoff game between the top four teams in the circuit will be staged at Wildcat Park next Sunday with the Ludlow nine facing Marlin Rockwell.

ELKS SPLIT WEEKEND GAMES

The Warren Elks divided their wins and losses this week end as they clipped Green Brothers 10-2 at the State Hospital diamond Saturday afternoon and then journeyed to New York State Sunday to lose by a similar score to the Starlite Bombers. The latter victory gave the Bombers an edge in the Penn-York league standings.

At home Saturday the locals tagged the visitors for five hits, Reese scoring two in shapes of a double and homer. Gnage also homered, Moniak tripled and Erickson hit a two bagger. Matecki pitched six-hit ball for Warren.

Warren was again held to five hits by the Bombers Sunday, but could push only two tallies in. Ken Thompson was credited with the loss for Warren.

PENN-YORK STANDINGS

After the past weekend's Penn-York loop action finished the standings look this way in order of percentage. Starlite Bombers, 14-2; Bradford, 8-3; Ludlow, 12-5; Marlin-Rockwell, 7-5; Warren Elks, 6-10; Jamestown Moose, 6-10; Art Metal, 4-9; and Ashville, 2-15.

WITH THE GOLFERS

Toby Lyons and Lionel Hebert tied at 71 for second place in the Rochester Open, Sunday, and brought home $400 each. Steve Savel, of Gylderland, N.Y., had a 70 for the $1,000 first money.

Chicken Check of Warren dropped a hole-in-one on Chautauqua's sixth hole, Monday. He plunked a five iron over the water hazard and into the cup.

Warren's golf team licked Titusville, Saturday, 22 to 13. Scoring for Warren was led by Skip Morine with 76. Pete Juliano had 78. Tim Creal, Heggise Schmidt, and Bob Walsh posted 79's.

This Saturday the Jamestown team will invade Warren. About twenty-five men are expected to represent each club in the match which will be followed by a dinner.

In last Thursday's weekly tournament, Dean Anderson shot a 38 for low gross, and had a net 17 for best score in the blind five hole special. Harry Barley tied him in this event and Howard Boyd was second with 18. Today it is a better ball of pair tournament, and next week best ball of four.

Junior golf action is growing at the Conewango Valley Country Club. Between fifty and sixty boys and girls took part in Tuesday's event. Bill Sedwick led the boys in the second division, and Sue Ensworth outscored the girls.

In division three there were several special events. Louie Carter had the low gross in group A and Elaine Donovan led the girls. Lee Ritchie won the girls' putting contest. Among the boys there was a tie between Jerry Lauffenberger, Bob Rice, and Eddie Schmidt.

Chuckie Schmidt and Sally Newmaker were the Group B winners. Pam Fanaritis won the boys' putting contest. The girls didn't have a special.

SPEEDSTERS PROVIDE THRILLS

It was the old "thrills and spills" routine at Skyline Speedway Sunday night, as Clarion's John McGinley roared to victory in the 50-lap feature. Finishing behind him in the event were Squirt John, Gus Nelson, Joe Sauner and Emory Mahan.

Among the nine of 18 starters unable to finish the event was high point leader Jim Patrick, who broke a spindle in the 39th lap.

The main 25-lap feature was taken by Jamestown's Sauner with Johns, McGinley, Mahan and Ferman following in that order. Patrick in his 1955 Ford defeated Warren's Mahan in a special match race.

Heat winners were Young, Nelson, and Layfield. Johns and McGinley took the two semis and Layfield the consolation.

Rain put somewhat of a damper on City softball league action this week. Scores registered were Nick's 5, Indies 2, and Jones' 12, Indies 9.

WATER HAZARD. Number three hole at the Conewango Valley Country Club was pictured on these pages a few weeks back. It had only a small stream trickling past the far green. Here Valentine Run has turned into a lake, washing out part of a bridge and leaving only the green above the current.

NEW OBSTACLE. There was no water here on the Conewango Valley Country Club course before Thursday. Over the week end there was a lake for holes six and seven. Golfers were stranded on the course in the cloudburst which covered the usually dry ground with water and split a tree near the club house with lightning.

GOLF TOURNAMENT PLANS

The first annual amateur golf tournament of the Kinzua Valley Golf course is shaping up with committees named to handle the many details. The tournament will be played in three flights. First flight will be for those with handicaps of 10 and under. Second flight will include those with handicaps of 11 to 18, and those with 19 and over will play in the third flight.

The tournament will be played August 25, with tee time for the first group set at 8:30. The $5 entry fee will include greens fee and lunch.

The committees consist of the following:

Handicap and Pairing--George Konkle, Bob Johnson, and John Smith.

Rules and Starting--George Eberhardt, Bill Simonsen, Jr., and George Larson.

Prizes--Dave Fink, Chink Collins, and Leo Salerno.

Publicity--Ted Berdine, Dick Munch, and Gerald Kehrli.

Registration--Lester Larson and Sam Brobst.

Caddies are being sought and trained by Keith Culbertson and it is hoped that there will be enough for the entire field.

SPECIAL RACING EVENTS

A big eight-event program to be climaxed by a 25-lap race, will be featured at the Skyline Speedway starting at 8:30 p.m. Sunday. Another special attraction slated is a match race between the top 10 point leaders at the track. This will be handicapped event of 10 laps with the highest point men at the rear. A trophy goes to the winner.

The current top point leaders are Jim Patrick, Conneaut, O., 488; Squirt Johns, Brockway, 468; Gus Nelson, Bradford, 430; Emory Mahan, Warren, 424; Joe Sauner, Jamestown, N.Y., 380; Don Bailey, Brockway, 322; John McGinley, Clarion, 316; Don Price, Lottsville, 292; John Seeley, Jamestown, N.Y., 258; and Allen Stearns, South Dayton, N.Y., 252.

BICYCLE ROAD-E-O SLATED

The second annual Jaycee-Playground sponsored Bicycle Road-E-O has been announced to take place Wednesday, August 8, at the Beaty parking lot. Starting time is 2 p.m. All youngsters wishing to take part in the event should fill out registration cards at their respective playgrounds.

The Road-E-O will be in charge of Fred Bell, playground supervisor, and Dennis Shreves, Jaycee chairman.

TENNIS CLINIC RE-SCHEDULED

The flooded out August 5th tennis clinic at Beaty field has been re-scheduled for Sunday, August 19. At 1:30 p.m. the program will open with the formal presentation of the Jaycee courts to Warren borough. This will be followed by a Jaycee-

Benny Scalise sponsored tennis clinic and exhibition that will be put on by Al Jones and Joe Holko, of Warren, O., and other local stars.

WATER AND POLITICS

This probably should be The Politics of It column, but the subject is broader than that. However, when the state offices changed hands as the result of the 1954 November election, Warren also was sending officials to Harrisburg for flood control. Lame duck officials were receiving the plans and the pleas.

Apparently the new faces didn't take Warren's plight very seriously. The result is that last Thursday's cloudburst caused so much damage to homes, streets, sidewalks, business establishments and other property that no one has the slightest idea what the total is. Neither Glade Run nor Indian Run could contain the flow.

Warren probably has been delinquent in not pursuing the project harder. The Water and Power Resources Board should be pressed for funds and the Department of Forests and Waters should be urged to do its job. Obviously much of the trouble is the state's own delinquency, not only through its failure to act on the plans submitted for correction, but also its failure to prevent the encroachments that have created a dangerous situation.

GOLDEN CUP COFFEE

The portion of Glade Run which leads to the borough line has been deepened and cleared so that the waters pour into the town at a tremendous rate. The state allowed this while doing nothing about the hodgepodge of twists and turns from the borough line to Pennsylvania ave.

It also allowed property owners on upper Indian Run to build walls and buildings in such a way that the stream makes many turns, and is narrowed at points. Intersections were not kept large enough. In fact the farther down the stream bed goes, the more narrow it has been allowed to become. The state has done nothing.

This is maddening enough, and we have ranted about it through many columns, but when it also refused to act in the face of the resulting trouble, this community has a right to get just a mite peeved.

Bradford, meanwhile, is receiving much help from both the state and federal governments. Bradford has formed an authority, with William P. McVay as authority chairman. It has pressed the matter and is receiving aid. The federal funds are paying a big share of the cost and state funds will pay half the remainder. In fact, before it even knows what the costs will be the state Water and Power Resources board has earmarked $200,000 for the Bradford project.

We do not suggest that Warren also form an authority. It might have value through the possibility that it would be more persistent about working for help, but authorities cost money, and in the case of Bradford one was required to coordinate the many political subdivisions involved.

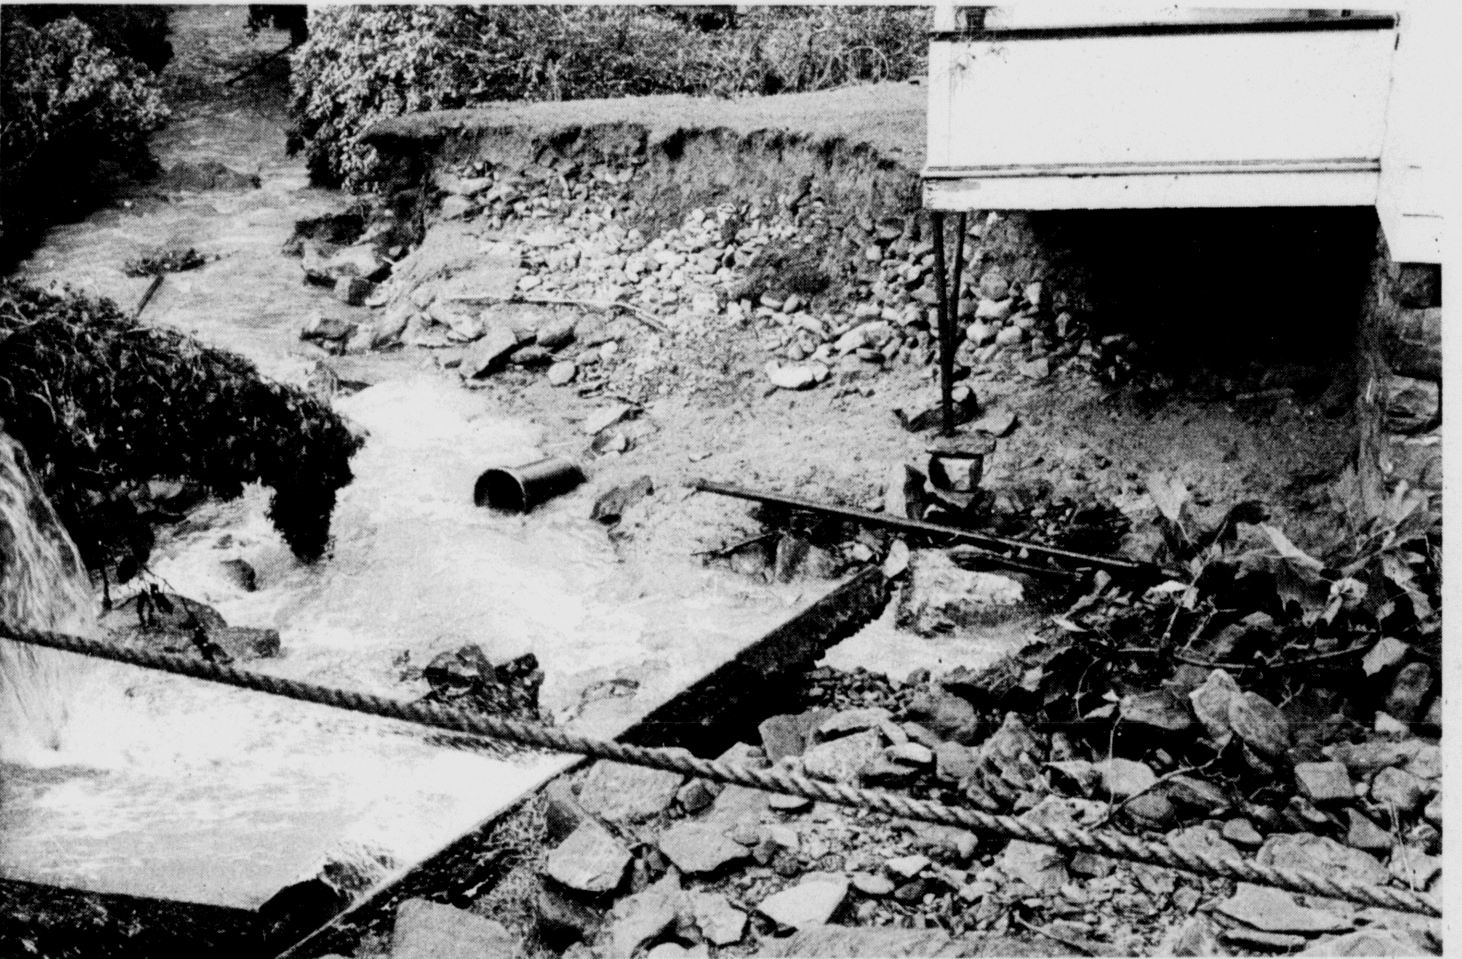

Bradford's problem is not strictly local. Members of its authority are Bradford, Bradford twp., Foster twp., Lafayette twp., Lewis Run borough, and McKean county. To provide a practical working unit they had to create an authority.

Actually the law under which the state works when helping municipalities in such situations does not even mention authorities. It was passed before the day of such agencies. The law specifically states that the state can deal directly with cities, boroughs, and other political subdivisions.

If it were decided that Warren county and nearby townships also wished to have a part in the Glade and Indian Run projects an authority might be the answer. Especially if matching funds were to be provided by each one involved. We doubt if this will happen here.

INDIAN RUN on Prospect st. and the reason residents of the area were at council meeting Monday night to present their protests.

TYPICAL OF DAMAGE done to homes by last Thursday's cloudburst is seen here. Lee Albaugh's house has had its foundation torn out by the Indian Run waters as they rushed over the clogged Prospect st. bridge, creating a waterfall that poured stones and water into the home's footer.

A nip and tuck battle was staged in the Cadet circuit Monday night with Craft Agency emerging a 10-9 victor over Cornplanter Motors. Both teams collected 10 hits and the mound victory went to Johnson. Craft's tied the contest up, 9-9, with a three-run rally in the sixth, before driving the winning tally across in the bottom of the eighth. A home run was hit by Campbell for the losers.

by

Blomquist'sInterstate Highway Committee Is Formed

Over 150 delegates from northern tier communities of Pennsylvania met at Potato City Hotel Monday and formed a committee to protest the proposed removal of Route 6 from the Federal Interstate System of Highways. Warren County was represented at the session by the Chamber of Commerce, Motor Club and Youngsville Business Peoples Assoc.

On the same day the Roosevelt Highway Assoc., meeting at Wellsboro, went on record as being opposed to the change and urged retention of Route 6 on the system.

As a result of the Potato City session each Chamber of Commerce in Pennsylvania's northern tier and New York's southern tier will be asked to complete an economic survey. These reports are expected to show the economic necessity of maintaining Route 6 on the Interstate System and will be presented to the proper state authorities.

Petitions protesting the change will continue to be circulated in all towns of the area.

The guest speaker at the meeting was Attorney Murray Garber, Bradford, who explained the Interstate System and told of the affect on this part of the state if Route 6 was removed. Under the program the Federal government will provide 90 per cent of the money to build modern network roads.

It has been disclosed that the southern tier of the state is also protesting the proposed substitution of a Sharon-Stroudsburg route for No. 6.

Flash Floods Raise Havoc In Warren Area

Area streams went on the rampage in the Warren area Thursday evening and caused an estimated $500,000 in damage.

The heavens opened during the early evening and dropped what was believed to be over five inches of rainfall in a matter of a few hours.

The heavy downpour sent streams rampaging. Among the hardest hit were Glade and Indian runs in Warren, Daugherty Run at North Warren, and Jackson Run. The streams, in many places changing their course, brought with them tons of rock, dirt and debris.

Heaviest hit were homes in the Locust st. and upper Park st. sectors. Foundations were washed out, a garage collapsed in one location and a car was carried down Glade Run almost to the river.

Similar activity took place in the upper Fifth ave. district where Indian Run took course where it could find it. Elsewhere streets were washed out and homes were completely surrounded by water.

The only damage to industry was the United Refining Co. There Glade Run tore out concrete walls of the bed and caused considerable damage to pipe lines crossing the stream. This damage was estimated at over $50,000.

The borough is now making a concerted effort to open up the streams, and repair roads, bridges and lawns torn out by the flood.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby

FORLORN ENDING

As a bit of public relations, Ed Sullivan's hurried grab of eleven top circus acts for his show last Sunday was a shrewd one. Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey had just collapsed for the last time, at least the last time as we know it, and the circus was all over the front pages. The publicity didn't do Sullivan's rating any harm.

But, let's face it, it was a forlorn exhibition that faced the cameras and the final parade -- a few elephants, a few spangles, a few clowns -- was a little sad and anti-climactic and half-hearted.

I don't know what a circus has -- or had -- to make it so universally appealing, not only to all ages but to all nationalities, but I suspect one of its great charms was simple size. The symbol of the circus has always been an elephant and it's big. Everything about a circus was big. The tents, the crowds, the parade and -- above all -- the number of things you could watch.

At the Ringling Bros. show, apart from a few top acts, there were always a half a dozen things going on at once and, when you tired of one, you could watch another. That's the essence of the circus -- a lot of sights and sounds and smells all at once. But, of course, television can't do that. You get a single picture and you get it up close. Pinito del Oro, the Spanish girl, who always makes me decidedly nervous when she's standing on her head on a trapeze bar fifty feet up in Madison Square Garden, doesn't affect me that way at all on a small screen in my own living room.

As circus acts go, all the acts Sullivan assembled were very good ones. The Cordons did their whip act, the man tearing a newspaper into small shreds in the girl's hand. Miss Mara hung by her feet and then by her head. Tito jumped about on a bar on his head. The two Mariles spun plates. The Al de Gong chimpanzees waltzed together. The Adnos juggled.

And, while they're all good acts, it occurred to me that maybe it is a mistake to get a television camera too close to any circus act. The girls are prettier from 100 feet away; the handstands are more breath-taking fifty feet up. I remember when CBS first televised the circus from Madison Square Garden eight or nine years ago. It was a good show for a number of reasons. For one thing, television was a novelty then and almost anything that appeared on the screen could capture your attention.

For another, the cameramen frequently shot through cables and rope, and sometimes took long shot views of the aerialists and somehow captured the sweep and sheer size of the circus. This Sullivan didn't do and probably couldn't do the other night.

At the end of the hour, I found my nine-year-old son had fallen sound asleep on the floor before the set. This is astounding. I had long since despaired that anything on television would ever put him to sleep. He has sat, transfixed, through the longest, duller TV shows, his attention not wavering once. And then, while Dschapur and Rutha were walking up a set of stairs on their hands backwards, he fell asleep.

It makes one to think. I cannot imagine myself falling asleep at a circus at that age. But then our experiences are entirely different. When I was nine years old, not only the circus but all forms of entertainment were terribly rare treats. You went to the circus once a year -- if that often. During the rest of the year, I was taken to a play or a musical, if they were considered suitable for children, or to see Thurston, the magician. That just about wrapped up my entertainment for the year.

Michael, on the other hand, has probably already seen more man hours of entertainment of various sorts than I witnessed in my first thirty years. Right there, I think, is the clue to why circuses are folding their tents all over the country. It's not just the lack of air conditioning and the labor trouble. It's the competition.

I feel sorry for the circus and especially for its performers. It takes many years of painstaking effort to learn how to slide down a wire backwards and, if it puts a child to sleep, where do you go from there? But I feel even sorrier for the children. What are they going to do for thrills when they're, say, eleven years old? They've seen everything.
